

Labor Day

WORKER RIGHTS

READING COMPREHENSION

WORKERS' RIGHTS!

Every year, on the first Monday of September, many countries around the world celebrate Labor Day. It's a special day to honor the hard work and contributions of workers everywhere. But what exactly are workers' rights, and why are they so important? Let's find out!

WHAT ARE WORKERS' RIGHTS?

Workers' rights are like rules that protect people who work. These rules make sure that workers are treated fairly and have safe conditions to work in. They also make sure that workers get paid the right amount for the work they do.

FAIR TREATMENT

One important workers' right is to be treated fairly. This means that everyone has the same chances to get a job and be paid equally for doing the same work. It also means that workers should not be treated badly or unfairly by their bosses.

SAFE WORKPLACES

Another important right is the right to work in a safe place. This means that the place where people work should not be dangerous. There should be no harmful chemicals, and the equipment should be in good condition to prevent accidents.

FAIR PAY

Workers also have the right to be paid fairly for their work. This means they should get enough money to support their families. It's not always easy to get paid fairly, but it's important to stand up for your rights.

TAKING BREAKS

Workers also have the right to take breaks during their workday. Taking breaks helps people to rest and recharge, so they can do their work better. It's important for bosses to give their workers time to take breaks.

WORKERS' RIGHTS!

Choose the correct answer.

Labor Day?

Workers go to work to relax and celebrate workers' rights. School starts to celebrate summer.

Workers' rights?

Protect workers. Punish workers. Favor bosses. Limit workers' freedom.

Following is NOT an important right.

Right to work hours. Right to be paid. Right to be treated fairly. Right to be paid for a place.

READING COMPREHENSION MCQ'S QUESTIONS ANSWER KEY

NO-PREP & EDITABLE

READING PASSAGES WITH TEXT DEPENDENT QUESTIONS

WORKERS' RIGHTS!

Every year, on the first Monday of September, many countries around the world celebrate Labor Day. It's a special day to honor the hard work and contributions of workers everywhere. But what exactly are workers' rights, and why are they so important? Let's find out!

WHAT ARE WORKERS' RIGHTS?

Workers' rights are like rules that protect people who work. These rules make sure that workers are treated fairly and have safe conditions to work in. They also make sure that workers get paid the right amount for the work they do.

FAIR TREATMENT

One important workers' right is to be treated fairly. This means that everyone should have the same chances to get a job and be paid equally for doing the same work. It also means that workers should not be treated badly or unfairly by their bosses.

SAFE WORKPLACES

Another important right is the right to work in a safe place. This means that the place where people work should not be dangerous. There should be no harmful chemicals, and the equipment should be in good condition to prevent accidents.

FAIR PAY

Workers also have the right to be paid fairly for their work. This means that they should be paid enough money to live comfortably and support their families. It's not fair if someone works hard but doesn't get enough money to buy food or pay for a place to live.

Ready to Print &
Editable

TAKING BREAKS

Workers also have the right to take breaks during their workday. Taking breaks helps people to rest and recharge, so they can do their best work. It's important for bosses to give their workers time to rest and eat lunch.

CELEBRATING LABOR DAY

Labor Day is a special day to celebrate workers' rights. It's a day off work for many people, so they can spend time with their families and relax. Some people have picnics or parades to celebrate all the hard work that people do every day.

CONCLUSION

Workers' rights are important because they make sure that everyone is treated fairly and with respect at work. On Labor Day, we celebrate these rights and say thank you to all the workers who make our world a better place!

READING COMPREHENSION

COLORED & B/W
VERSIONS INCLUDED

SHORT ANSWER QUESTIONS

1. What is Labor Day?
2. Why are workers' rights important?
3. Name one example of workers' rights mentioned in the passage.
4. How do people celebrate Labor Day?
5. Why do workers have the right to take breaks during their workday?

6. Why is fair pay important for workers?
 - a) So they can buy fancy clothes
 - b) So they can live comfortably and support their families
 - c) So they can go on expensive vacations
 - d) So they can buy expensive gadgets

7. Why do workers have the right to take breaks during their workday?
 - a) To do more work
 - b) To rest and recharge
 - c) To go home early
 - d) To skip lunch

8. How do people celebrate Labor Day?
 - a) By going to work
 - b) By having picnics or parades
 - c) By staying at home
 - d) By watching TV all day

9. What do we celebrate on Labor Day?
 - a) Bosses' achievements
 - b) Workers' hard work and contributions
 - c) School starting
 - d) Winter coming

10. Why are workers' rights important?
 - a) They make sure everyone is treated with respect
 - b) They make sure everyone is treated with respect
 - c) They make sure only bosses get breaks
 - d) They make sure workers are always treated fairly

ANSWER KEY

MCQS

1. b) A day to celebrate workers' rights
2. a) Rules that protect workers
3. b) Unlimited work hours
4. c) So they have the same chances and are paid equally
5. c) The workplace should have good conditions to prevent accidents
6. b) So they can live comfortably and support their families
7. b) To rest and recharge
8. b) By having picnics or parades
9. b) Workers' hard work and contributions
10. b) They make sure everyone is treated with respect

SHORT-ANSWER QUESTIONS

1. Labor Day is a day to celebrate workers' rights.
2. Workers' rights are important because they make sure that everyone is treated fairly and with respect at work.
3. One example of workers' rights mentioned in the passage is the right to work in a safe place.
4. People celebrate Labor Day by having picnics or parades.
5. Workers have the right to take breaks during their workday to rest and recharge.

Name_____

Date_____

WORKERS' RIGHTS!

DIRECTIONS CHOOSE THE CORRECT ANSWER.

1. What is Labor Day?

- a) A day for bosses to relax
- b) A day to celebrate workers' rights
- c) A day for school to start
- d) A day to celebrate summer

2. What are workers' rights?

- a) Rules that protect workers
- b) Rules that punish workers
- c) Rules that favor bosses
- d) Rules that limit workers' freedom

3. Which of the following is NOT an important workers' right mentioned?

- a) Fair treatment
- b) Unlimited work hours
- c) Safe workplaces
- d) Fair pay

4. Why is fair treatment important for workers?

- a) So they can boss around
- b) So they can get better jobs
- c) So they have the same chances and are paid equally
- d) So they can take longer breaks

5. What does the right to work in a safe place mean?

- a) The workplace should be dangerous
- b) The workplace should have harmful chemicals
- c) The workplace should have good conditions to prevent accidents
- d) The workplace should have old equipment

10 - MCQ'S & 5
QUESTIONS

ANSWER KEY
INCLUDED