

Native American Heritage Month

RESPECT & UNDERSTANDING

READING COMPREHENSION

NO-PREP & EDITABLE

BUILDING FRIENDSHIPS
Building Friendships with people from different cultures enriches our lives. By forming connections with Native American individuals and communities, we can learn from each other and grow together. Friendships strengthen our communities and...

RESPECT & UNDERSTANDING
Respect and understanding are important values that help us appreciate the diverse cultures around us. During Native American Heritage Month in November, we learn about and celebrate the rich traditions and contributions of Native American peoples. By showing respect and understanding, we can build a more inclusive and harmonious world.

LEARNING ABOUT CULTURES
Native American cultures are incredibly diverse, with each tribe having its own unique traditions, languages, and histories. By learning about these cultures, we gain a deeper appreciation for the variety and richness of human experiences. This month is a special time to explore and honor the many contributions of Native American communities.

SHOWING RESPECT
Respect means valuing others and treating them with kindness and consideration. We show respect for Native American cultures by listening to their stories, acknowledging their history, and appreciating their customs and traditions. It's important to remember that respect also means standing against stereotypes and prejudice.

UNDERSTANDING HISTORY
Understanding the history of Native American peoples is crucial to respecting their cultures. They have lived on this land for thousands of years before the arrival of Europeans. Learning about their challenges and perspectives helps us understand their cultural heritage.

CELEBRATING CONTRIBUTIONS
Celebrating the myriad contributions of Native American literature, art, and governance fosters recognition of our shared history and cultural tapestry.

great wisdom and knowledge. They have been passed down from elders, we show respect. Valuable knowledge is preserved.

peoples is their rights by standing a fairer and

EQUAL RIGHTS FOR ALL

RESPECT & UNDERSTANDING
CHOOSE THE CORRECT ANSWER.
celebrate in November
American Heritage Month important values that help understanding and rivalry control
Showing respect for Native history
their stories and apprecia their traditions
customs without permis
Native Americans live years

READING COMPREHENSION
MCQ'S
QUESTIONS
ANSWER KEY

READING PASSAGES WITH TEXT DEPENDENT QUESTIONS

RESPECT & UNDERSTANDING

Respect and understanding are important values that help us appreciate the diverse cultures around us. During Native American Heritage Month in November, we learn about and celebrate the rich traditions and contributions of Native American peoples. By showing respect and understanding, we can build a more inclusive and harmonious world.

LEARNING ABOUT CULTURES

Native American cultures are incredibly diverse, with each tribe having its own unique traditions, languages, and histories. By learning about these cultures, we gain a deeper appreciation for the variety and richness of human experiences. This month is a special time to explore and honor the many contributions of Native American communities.

SHOWING RESPECT

Respect means valuing others and treating them with kindness and consideration. We show respect for Native American cultures by listening to their stories, acknowledging their history, and appreciating their customs and traditions. It's important to remember that respect also means standing against stereotypes and prejudice.

UNDERSTANDING HISTORY

Understanding the history of Native American peoples is crucial to respecting their cultures. Native Americans have lived on this land for thousands of years, long before the arrival of Europeans. Learning about their history, including the challenges they have faced and their resilience, helps us understand their perspectives and the importance of their cultural heritage.

CELEBRATING CONTRIBUTIONS

Celebrating the myriad contributions of Native Americans across art, science, literature, and governance fosters recognition of their invaluable role in shaping our shared history and cultural tapestry.

READING COMPREHENSION

COLORED & B/W VERSIONS INCLUDED

Ready to Print &
Editable

BUILDING FRIENDSHIPS

Building friendships with people from different cultures enriches our lives. By reaching out and forming connections with Native American individuals and communities, we can learn from each other and grow together. Friendships based on respect and understanding strengthen our communities and promote harmony.

LEARNING FROM ELDERS

Elders in Native American communities hold great wisdom and knowledge. They are the keepers of traditions and stories that have been passed down through generations. By listening to and learning from elders, we show respect for their experiences and ensure that their valuable knowledge is preserved for the future.

SUPPORTING INDIGENOUS RIGHTS

Supporting the rights of Native American peoples is an important part of showing respect and understanding. This means advocating for their rights to land, culture, and self-determination. By standing up for Indigenous rights, we help create a fairer and more just society for everyone.

CONCLUSION

Respect and understanding are essential for celebrating Native American Heritage Month and for building a better world. By learning about Native American cultures, honoring their contributions, and supporting their rights, we show that we value diversity and are committed to creating an inclusive and respectful society. Let's celebrate this month with an open heart and a willingness to learn and grow together.

Name_____

Date_____

RESPECT & UNDERSTANDING

DIRECTIONS CHOOSE THE CORRECT ANSWER.

1. What do we celebrate in November to honor Native American cultures?

- a) Thanksgiving
- b) Native American Heritage Month
- c) Christmas
- d) Halloween

2. What are important values that help us appreciate diverse cultures?

- a) Wealth and fame
- b) Respect and understanding
- c) Competition and rivalry
- d) Power and control

3. What does showing respect for Native American cultures involve?

- a) Ignoring their history
- b) Listening to their stories and appreciating their customs
- c) Disregarding their traditions
- d) Copying their customs without permission

4. How long have Native Americans lived on this land?

- a) For hundreds of years
- b) For thousands of years
- c) For a few decades
- d) Since the 20th century

5. What is one way to build friendships with Native American individuals and communities?

- a) Ignoring them
- b) Reaching out and forming connections
- c) Avoiding their customs
- d) Competing with them

SHORT ANSWER QUESTIONS

1. What do we celebrate in November to honor Native American cultures?
2. How can we show respect for Native American cultures?
3. Who holds the wisdom and knowledge of Native American communities?
4. How long have Native Americans lived on this land?
5. What does supporting Indigenous cultures involve?

6. Who are the keepers of traditional Native American communities?

- a) Young children
- b) Teachers
- c) Elders
- d) Politicians

7. What does supporting the rights of Native American peoples mean?

- a) Ignoring their land claims
- b) Advocating for their rights to land, resources, and self-determination
- c) Taking their resources
- d) Disregarding their opinions

8. What is an important part of showing respect for Native American cultures?

- a) Supporting stereotypes
- b) Standing against prejudice
- c) Mocking their traditions
- d) Avoiding their communities

9. What contributions have Native Americans made to modern society?

- a) Only in music
- b) In art, science, literature, and government
- c) Only in agriculture
- d) None

10. How can we celebrate Native American Heritage Month with an open heart?

- a) By ignoring diversity
- b) By learning about and honoring Native American traditions and only on modern cultures
- c) By discussing about Native American cultures

ANSWER KEY

MCQS

1. b) Native American Heritage Month
2. b) Respect and understanding
3. b) Listening to their stories and appreciating their customs
4. b) For thousands of years
5. b) Reaching out and forming connections
6. c) Elders
7. b) Advocating for their rights to land, culture, and self-determination
8. b) Standing against prejudice
9. b) In art, science, literature, and government
10. b) By learning about and honoring Native American cultures

SHORT-ANSWER QUESTION

1. Native American Heritage Month
2. By listening to their stories and appreciating their customs
3. Elders
4. For thousands of years
5. Advocating for their rights to land, culture, and self-determination

ANSWER KEY
INCLUDED

10 - MCQ'S & 5
QUESTIONS