Aviation Day is a special day when we celebrate the amazing achievements in flying. It's a time to remember the brave pilots who soar through the sky and the incredible machines they fly. On Aviation Day, we honor the Wright brothers, who were the first to make a powered flight in 1903. They showed us that with determination and hard work, we can achieve the impossible. So let's raise our wings high and salute all those who make the skies a brighter place!
