REMEMBERING THE BATTLE OF BUNKER HILL

Long ago, in the land of America, there was a great battle called the Battle of Bunker Hill. Even though it happened many years ago, we still remember it today. Let's learn more about this important event in history.

THE CALL TO ARMS

Back in those days, the people of America were not happy. They felt like they were being treated unfairly by the rulers from far away. They wanted to be free to make their own decisions. So, they decided to stand up and fight for their rights.

GATHERING OF THE PATRIOTS

When the call to arms came, brave men from all walks of life answered. They were farmers, teachers, blacksmiths, and many others. They were not trained soldiers, but they loved their land and were willing to fight for it.

FACING THE REDCOATS

On one side of the battle were the patriots, and on the other side were the British soldiers, also known as the Redcoats because of their bright red uniforms. The Redcoats were well-trained and had powerful weapons, but the patriots were determined.

THE BATTLE BEGINS

As the sun rose one morning, the two sides faced each other. The air was tense with anticipation as they prepared for the battle. With a loud roar, the battle began!

COURAGE IN THE MIDST OF CHAOS

During the battle, the patriots showed incredible courage. Despite being outnumbered and outgunned, they never gave up.

COLONEL PRESCOTT'S WISE WORDS

One of the leaders in the battle, Colonel William Prescott, gave his famous speech. He said, "Don't fire until you see the whites of their eyes!" This meant that the Redcoats were very close before shooting. They had run out of their ammunition.
