Waitangi Day holds immense significance in New Zealand as it commemorates the signing of the Treaty of Waitangi on February 6, 1840, between the indigenous Māori chiefs and representatives of the British Crown. This day serves as a pivotal moment in the nation's history, marking the establishment of a partnership between the Māori people and the British settlers.

THE TREATY OF WAITANGI

The Treaty of Waitangi, a pivotal document signed on February 6, 1840, represents a historic pact between the Māori chiefs and the representatives of the British Crown.
