Sandra Day O'Connor was the first woman to serve as a Supreme Court Justice in the United States. She was born on March 26, 1930, in El Paso, Texas. Sandra studied law at Stanford University and went on to have a remarkable career in law and public service. She was nominated to the Supreme Court by President Ronald Reagan in 1981 and served until her retirement in 2006. Sandra was known for her thoughtful and fair approach to interpreting the law, and she made many important decisions during her time on the bench.
